In Virginia, on Sunday, June 11, General THOMAS H BOTTS, in his 54th year. The deceased was the second living son of the distiguished lawyer, BENJAMIN BOTTS, who, with his wife, per-ished in the awful conflagration of the Richmond theatre in 1811. There are those still living who well remember the harrowing scene of that fearful night. In the sorrow ing of the bereaved city, none received more sympathy than the family of Mr. Botts—cut off suddenly in the prime of life, in the midst of his usefulness and fame, leaving heavy losses, but none were so bereaved as this family. Father and mether, both lost—and who can supply that place? The fame acquired by Mr. Botts in the defence of ginia bar, all his associates of that day manifested toward this well remembers the burning of the theatre, and the consequent incidents. For Sick Headache Remedy.—A remedy for the sick headache, which has been recently offered to the public, is attracting great attention, not only by reason of the very satisfactory testimonials to its efficacy which have been volunteered by many who have been benefited by it, but also because there are so great a number of people who are afficied with the distressing complaint, for which no medicine has before been made public. Dr. Eastman, who discovered the efficacy of his "remedy," is a physician in this city, in high standing, with a large practice. He is a physician in whom great confidence is placed; and we do not wonder that his remedy for a very common disease, which has been so long needed, has attracted the attention of all sufferers from headache who have heard of it. From our own knowledge of Dr. Eastman's character and practice, we have no doubt that the medicine deserves the favor it receives, and that it will prove to be a great benefit to all who may give it a trial.—Lynn Netes, December 23, 1853.

NAVAL BILL.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill to reorganize the navy of the United States.

Mr. HUNTER moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill was ordered to a third reading. He said the bill required amendment in many particulars. It provided for the establishment of an additional bureau, which he regarded as unnecessary. It also to very great extent gave the power of appointing officers of the navy to members of Congress, a measure which he deemed altogether wrong. If provided for two retired lists, one to wear the navy button, and the other denied that right. It appeared to him that this provision put a stigma upon those who should be placed on this second retired list. While in favor generally of the retired list, he was opposed to having two. to having two.

The motion to reconsider was then agreed to, and the bill postponed.

VETOED LAND BILL.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill granting land to the several States for the support of the indigent insane.

Mr. CLAY then addressed the Senate for over an hour in defence of the veto, and in arguing the inconstitutionality of the bill.

Military Fancies.-We have, in this city, parade as the eye can desire, and who, generally, ere well drilled and of soldier-like bearing. They embrace companies of rifles, muskets, and horse three effective branches of the military service, when properly directed. Captain Beckingham's artillery corps, we may here say by way of parenthesis, is on an indefinite furlough; but we should like to see it again in active holyday service, and occasionally hear the booming of his ordnance, especially on anniversary occasions. No two of the companies are uniformed alike each consulting its own fancy as to dress. They certainly exhibit a diversity of tastes in this par ticular. If, however, they were engaged in actuawar, some of them, at least, would find their toggery extremely cumbrous, and would prefer taking heir share of the deadly encounter in their shirtsleeves rather than in thick-doubled-breusted roadcloth, buttoned to the throat, in midsummer But, fortunately, there is no probability that their prowess will soon be put to the test.

The "Continental Guards," it is well known follow, somewhat, the style of the costume worn by the revolutionary fathers; the cocked-hat, buff breeches and vest, ruffled shirt, blue coat, faced with buff, and fair-topped boots. This, un il recently, was the only fancy company in this city, as contradistinguished from the other volunteer or ganizations; but we will soon have another, mor outre on parade-the "Highlanders."

On Saturday night, one of them caused quite stir in the streets. He was full-dressed in the Scotch costume, and was returning from a meeting of the corps, where he had been to show the uniform. Brawny, tall, and well-proportioned, he ooked well; and doubtless the full company marching to the music of the bagpipes, would present a fine spectacle, certainly a novel one, in our thoroughfares, and throw the other military odies into the shade, for a season.

Variety is said to be the spice of life, and this remark, we suppose, is applicable to military as

The Washington National Monument has attained a height of one hundred and fifty-four eet, at a cost of about $230,000, but it needs the prompt and zealous support of the country to raise funds, now nearly exhausted, to carry on the work after the present month of June. The officers of the association make an earnest appeal for additional contributions, saying, "delay is hazard ous to the great undertaking." The secretary, in a brief address to Americans, says that "no better mode of celebrating the anniversary of the country's independence, next to your imitation of the virtues and practice of the precepts of the founders of the republic, can be adopted than a liberal response to the appeal of the board of managers." He calls upon them to contribute to this noble object on the glorious fourth.

It was brought to Alexandria, Virgina free of cost; John Watt & Co, of New Orleans having refused to take freight for its conveyance from Natches to that city, and Captain Sturges of the schooner Meteor, brought it to Alexandria on similar patriotic terms-for nothing.

District Affairs before Congress. MESSRS. EDITORS: Will you have the kind-MESSRS. EDITORS: Will you have the kindness to allow a small space in the columns of your valuable journal, to bring to the notice of Congress the fact that up to the present time they have thoughtlessly, no doubt, neglected to do, what all previous ones have done, in setting apart a portion of the time of the session for the exclusive transaction of District business. It is understood that there is a vast amount of business before the District committees, connected with this city and its citizens, that ought to receive their attention before the adjournment, which will soon terminate, particularly the private claims of our citizens, who have, in order to obtain their equitable rights, for several months been anxiously await-ng their action.

The citizens of Washington have a right to and do expect Congress to devote a portion of the time of the session in adjusting, speedily, their claims. Congress being acquainted with the public and local improvements connected with this city, are much better prepared to adjust with dispatch the claims of the citizens of this District than those coming from their constituents.

Congress ought, and we have no doubt will, before a pressure of business shall be brought before them, devote a portion of their time, in ecordance with the usual custom of that body, in adjusting, in counexion with the public affairs of this District, the private claims of such of our citizens as may be before their respective bodies.

VOX POPULI.

WASHINGTON, June 20, 1854.

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION .- Thompson's cel AN IMPORTANT INVENTION.—Thompson's celebrated folding life-preserving seat was fully tested at the navy-ya d on Friday, in presence of a party of naval officers, members of Congress, and others, and received many expressions of approbation. It forms a bench, or ship stool of the usual size, convenient, neat, and substantial, and can be converted into a life preserver. life preserver in a moment, by moving two brass slides, which allow it to divide and open, and then by moving the slides a few inches more, they hold it firmly in that position. It then forms a strong frame, with a capacious air chamber at each end, and the person is supported in the water without effort, the side coming up under the arm-pits, and leaving the arms and legs free. An experimenter, who had never before seen the machine, threw him-self with it into eighteen feet water, and managed it in many ways with perfect ease. He got in and out of it several times in different ways, sometimes raising it with one hand out of the water, and putting it over his head and shoulders, and then drawing the arms through; cometimes putting in his feet first as it lay on the water, sitting, lying upon it, holding to it, &c., &c. By resting on the sides with the elbows, the body may be raised considerably higher. He also moved it rapidly through the water at will, and in any direction, using his hands and feet without embarrassment; and it hands and feet without embarrassment; and it was evident that a person with such a machine might hold up several others, in case of emergency, while a supply of them, on board vessels of any kind, would, in many cases of peril by shipwreck, fire, &c., save scores and and hundreds of lives. The danger of panic on board vessels would also be greatly diminished by the general use of this invention, while many apprehensions of danger to friends on their travels would be prevented. The examination of this life-preserver, and still more a sight of it in use, will enable any person to understand the reawill enable any person to understand the rea-sons why it has been declared by commanders of the United States ocean mail steamers and others the best ever invented.—Wash. Union.

MUSICAL CONGRESS .- There have been three "inaugurations" of the Crystal Palace, and the third, which took place last evening, under the direction of M. Jullien, was not inferior in point of attraction to either of the others. The precise number of persons present cannot audience numbered over twenty thousand. A few reached the ground as early as half-pass four, and the largest portion of the audience had assembled some time before the hour fixed for the commencement of the performance.
The various railroad lines leading to the city were crowded throughout the day with visitors from the interior, who were attracted by the anouncement of the novel entertainment; and an unusual number of the elite of New York societies, joined with the throng, which for nore than two hours pressed towards the palace. In regard to the entertainment itself, there will doubtless be a variety of opinions, according to the position of the spectator. Those who are acquainted with the interior of the immense building, need not be told that it is not especially adapted for a musical entertainment; but the arragement of the platform and seats was judiciously made, and no pains spared to heighten the general effect. That portion of the audience best suited for listening, must have been gratified beyond measure; but the finest parts of the performance were altogether lost upon a great part of the im-

The overtures and other orchestral pieces The overtures and other orchestral pieces, and the chorusses, were given with grand effect; but the solos, and especially the duet for two pianofortes, were nearly lost, and should never have been attempted in such a building, and before so large an audience. The successes were, on the whole, more striking than the failures; and although the former were chiefly produced with the least effort of a rechiefly produced with the least effort of a refined musical taste, the approval of the assem-bly was very decided. The Firemen's quad-rille, composed expressly for this occasion by Jullien, is a fair illustration of this statement. According to the programme, the first, second, third, and fourth, figures of this quadrille were descriptions of the annual parade; and the fifth of the approach of night, the breaking out of a fire, the gathering of the engines, and the battle between the elements, until the flame is subdued. As a composition, the piece is far inferior to the American quad ille, by the same hand, but the screen officer. hand, but the scenic effect is greater. The "dull red glare," illuminating the horizon, was produced by fire-works upon the roof the palace, and the enthusiasm of the audience at this point was beyond description.

Previous to the opening of this quadrille, Mr.
Barnum, president of the association, and whose good genius hit upon this scheme for the relief of the disheartened stockholders, made his appearance, and, in a very neat speech, pre-pared the audience for the scene to be repre-sented, which it was feared might otherwise create some alarm. After it was concluded. M. Jullien being called for made a brief address, which was very well received. At this point, which ended the second part of the en-tertainment, many thousands of the audience left. In fact, soon after the performances comnenced many of the visitors retired, not being able to accommodate themselves within hear-ing distance of a portion of the entertainment. Every conveyance to the lower part of the city was densely packed, and for several hours the cars of the Sigth avenue railroad were crowded with the returning throng. Before the close, an announcement was made that the congress would continue its sessions every night this week; but the performances are to be varied, and the price of admission reduced to 25 cents for each regular ticket, and 75 cents for reserved seats. The building will probably be

Clinical lectures are regularly given at the college infirmary and Richmond almshouse. The infirmary, under the same roof with the cellege, and subject to the entire control of the faculty, is at altimes well filled with medical and surgical cases and furnishes peculiar facilities for clinical in struction. Many surgical operations are performed in presence of the class; and the students, being freely admitted to the wards, enjoy, under the guidance of the professors, unusual epportunities for becoming familiar with the symptoms diagnosis, and treatment of disease.

SCHOOL.—The subscriber has removed his school to College Hill, where a commodious building is being fitted up for its reception.

As the Preparatory Department of the Columbian College, it will continue to preserve the character of a strictly select school, designed for laying the foundation of a thorough English, Classical, and Mathematical education. The next session will commence on the 12th of September, and close on the last of June.

Terms: $12 50 per quarter, payable in advance.
At a small additional charge, the students will be permitted to attend the Lectures delivered in College on Chemistry, Geology, and Mineralogy, and also to receive instruction in French and other Modern Languages by the Professor in that department. CELECT CLASSICAL and Mathematics

The fact that this property is deeded to trustees in trust, residents of the District of Columbia, for the benefit of the stockholders; and every shareholder receiving a daguerreotype worth $3, and of the very finest quality and elegantly cased; the high characters and positions of those trustees, and the great and extended reputation and business of Mr. Whitehurst, he deems sufficient gua rantees that the every promise of this advertisement will be promptly and faithfully performed, as the labor will be distributed among so many galleries, which are capable of producing from 1.000 to 1,500 pictures per diem. Not more than fifty thousand shares will be sold.

Persons residing at a distance, and wishing orders for a daguerreotype, which will entitle them to a share in the above enterprise, will please enclose the amount, post-paid, to Whitehurst's Gallery. Washington

Springs, known in the list of post offices as Warrenton Springs, will be opened for visitors on the 10th of June. Extensive improvements have been made since the last season. The entire bedding of the establishment has been renewed, and the forniture of the dining and other rooms extensively improved. Gas-works have been erected; the light to be furnished from rosin oil. Namerous other expenses have been incurred for the comfort and accommodation of guests. These,
and the increased cost of provisions of all kinds, demand some increase in the rates of board, which will be: For the season, ending 1st of October, $55; for three months, $75; for two months, $65;
one month, $36; for two weeks, $20; for one week, $11; per day, $2; for dinner, 75 cents;
breakfast, supper, or night's lodging, 50 cents.
Colored servants, and children under 12 years, half price. White servants, three-fourths of full price. No charge for children under two years of age. Horses, 50 cents per day, or $10 per month.

The railroad cars leave Alexandria at 7 o'clock in the morning, and in two hours arrive at Bealeton, where conveyances will take passengers over a good summer road, between eight and nine miles to the springs. The cars, also, will leave a good summer road, between eight and nine miles to the springs. The cars, also, will leave Alexandria at 3 p. m., for Warienton, and stages will take passengers the same evening to the springs by a macadamized road, six and a half miles. From the south and the west, the cars leave Stauaton and Richmond in the morning at about 6 o'clock, and may get to the Springs via Gordonsville and Bealeton, to dinner; thus afford ing two daily lines to Alexandria, and a daily line to Gordonsville, Richmond, and Staunton.

The superintendence of the establishment has been placed under the control of the subscriber, whose experience in Lowell, Boston, and Portsmouth, New Hampshire, entitles him to hope he will be able to give general satisfaction. He will certainly try to do to SAMUEL A. COBURN.
